MARKET PRICES UP

Advance Goes On During Last Total sales.

than there was yesterday, and, indeed, matters of a strictly financial nature even less.

Nevertheless, the activity of the market was considerably greater than it was yesterday, the quantity of business transacted being almost twice as large, and prices, too, after a slight recession in the early part of the day, steadily advanced. The upward movement went on until the close of business, and final prices were generally at the day's highest. The rise was most notable, of course, in the leading speculative favorites, such as the Union Pacific, Reading, and similar stocks, and the gains made here were in the neighborhood of a couple of points. While advances exhibited elsewhere were a good deal less, they were net so greatly below the leaders as to disturb the genbelow the leaders as to disturb the general showing of the market.

The prevailing cause for all this appears to be again the series of the market.

The prevailing cause for all this appears to be again the series of the serie

Large Interests Not Seen.

There were smail evidences during the day that large financial interests were taking any part in the market whatever, but the ever-changing opinion of daily professional operators shifted to the view that the extremely vigorous protest in all sections of the counter. professional operators shifted to the view that the extremely vigorous protest in all sections of the country against the preposition to commit the national convention of the Republican party to radical ideas that were distinctly repudlated at the last session of Congress would Wabash have the result of changing the programme in this regard, as it had been settled upon in advance by the most prominent candidate for the Presidency Quotations furnished by E. The United States Trust Company will open for business in its new building on G street to-day. The banking room has been renovated and made practically new, and the youngest trust company in the city, after arriving at success in its temporary quarters on Fourteenth street, is now enterening upon enlarged facilities in the hope of a new period of business prosperity. The company is a yearling, and a strong and sturdy financial infant at that.
